

Bring more federal grant opportunities to your community

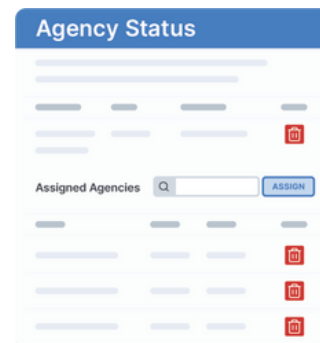

With improved search and notification capabilities plus the ability to collaborate across agencies, U.S. Digital Response’s Grant Identification tool can help state and local governments find relevant federal grants faster and increase cooperation between different grant-seeking teams.

Find federal grants faster than on grants.gov

- Use a saved keyword search so you never have to re-enter the same keywords again
- Receive daily email notifications when new grants relevant to your saved keywords pop up
- Sort and filter grants by award amount, cost-sharing requirements, close date, and more

Empower regional collaboration with strong project management

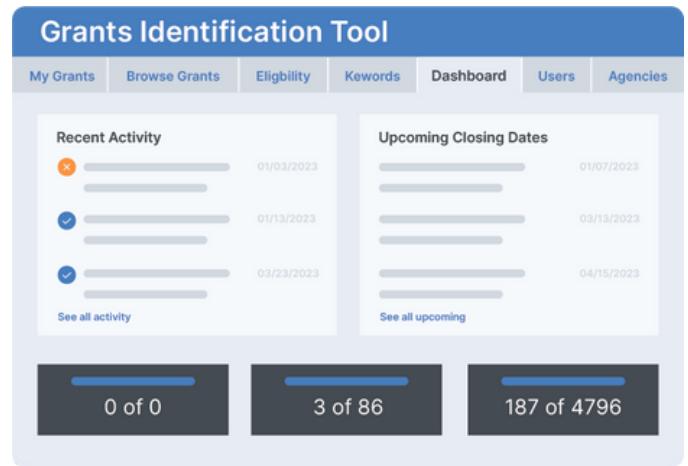

- Empower joint applications for grants by providing visibility into each program teams’ federal grant focus
- Track all the federal grants your organization is applying for across different teams
- Assign federal grant opportunities to other teams or indicate support for other teams grant interests

Select State and Local Government Partners

Stay organized on your pipeline of federal grant opportunities

- Bookmark relevant grants that you've reviewed
- Highlight grants with close dates where your team might be at risk
- Export a list of relevant grants to a CSV for you to distribute to others

Features included:

- Saved keyword search
- Email notifications
- Sorting by close date
- Export to CSV
- Filtering out cost sharing grants
- Grant bookmarking
- One platform for multiple departments and users
- Collaboration tools:
- Assign grants,
- Express interest, show support, etc.

Additional USDR Offerings for State and Local Government Grant and Finance Teams

ARPA-SLFRF Reporter

Use a free, secure workbook already pre-populated with US Department of Treasury (USDT) requirements for reporting expenditures in projects. Once your program managers have filled out their subrecipient data, they can upload their workbooks, and you can download the final merged workbook in exactly the form required by the USDT.

Community of Peers

Participate in group discussions hosted by USDR with fellow finance officers and grant specialists. You also have the opportunity to collaborate with the USDR community to develop new tools to help you streamline grant reporting for future programs, such as the Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act (IIJA).

About U.S. Digital Response

U.S. Digital Response is a nonprofit, nonpartisan effort that helps governments respond quickly and efficiently to deliver for people's most critical needs - now and in the future. Founded in 2020, USDR connects governments with a surge of technology, resources, and support at critical moments, leaving them better equipped to deliver services and support to millions of people nationwide.
